

C: hatched reads have no assigned junction. D: ticks mark mutation classes; circle area increases with read count.
Branching is a reconstruction from observed sequences, not a directly measured genealogy.